

Home at Last

A Journey Toward Higher Consciousness

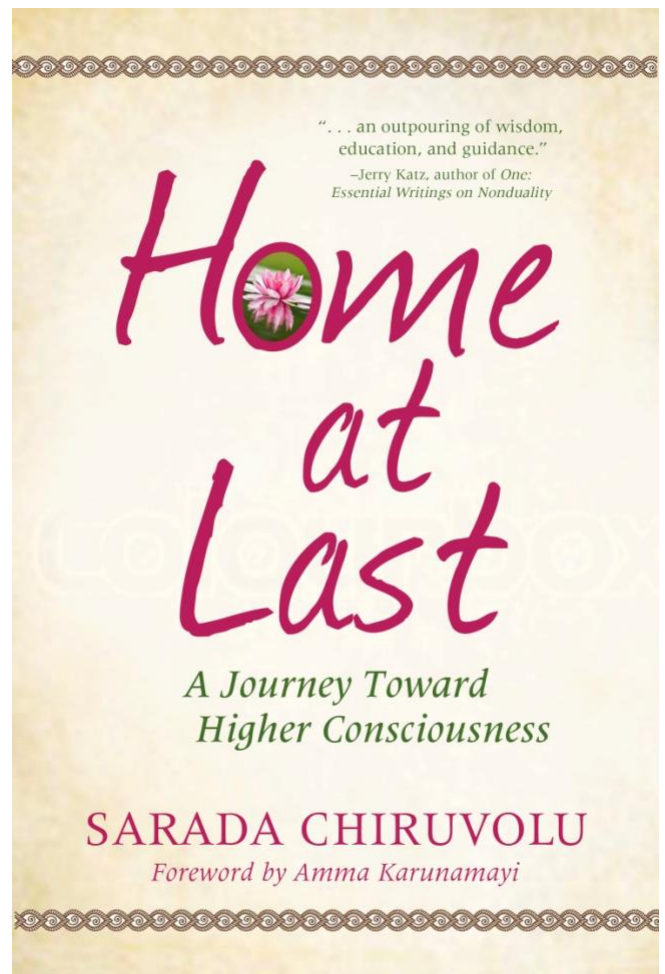

by
SARADA CHIRUVOLU

One woman's journey from a career track in the pharmaceutical industry to a spiritual calling. Home At Last takes the reader on a profound journey on the road toward enlightenment based on author's direct experience. It explains and gives sign posts and landmarks that we can encounter on the path.

About the Author

Sarada Chiruvolu left a pharmaceutical career to pursue a spiritual calling. She set out on a unique journey that has taken her toward attaining realization of Self or Enlightenment through many years of deep meditation. She lives in Princeton, NJ.

Sarada will share her personal experience of seeking higher states of consciousness and experiencing self-realization through meditation practice, as described in her book Home At Last. She will be speaking about what it means to be "home at last," which is the ultimate purpose of life, and how we all reach our destination eventually. Sarada will also speak about her own experience toward reaching that goal. She will also cover what inspired her to write the book. For more information visit:

www.HomeAtLastBySarada.com

March 10th @ 10:30AM

Sarva Dharma Service Center, 144 West Farms Road
Farmingdale, NJ - 07727